As a skilled botanist, Dr. William Carey continually collected and cultivated various flora. In a November 27, 1800, letter to his friend John Sutcliffe, Carey wrote,

“Do send a few Tulips, Daffodils, Snow drops, Lilies, and Seeds of other things. . . . the Cowslips and daisies in your Fields would be great acquisitions here.”

“All Thy works shall praise thee, O LORD.”

Psalm 145:10
